

Problem Description:

Problem statement is to determine the severity of the accident depending on the several factors.

Problem Background:

Consider the scenario where the accident happened. In case of accidents, victims are provided special emergency medical and transportation service such as helicopter service. Now this project will determine the severity of the accident to determine what kind of emergency service is required. Depending on severity of accident, authorities can decide need of helicopter due to traffic jam or need of ambulance.

Such a several service provision can be determined by authorities depending on accident severeness which is determined by this project.